The Council, City of Red Deer, Gentlemen.—We submit our regular report.

1. On 11th inst. Mr. Hill, engineer of the Canadian National Railway, arrived in Red Deer to inspect the water works near the exhibition grounds. He wished to have the fence on the 'vestibule' of the exhibition grounds moved. We informed him that as soon as the company wished to operate the stock and horses would be moved, but that, until that time, we did not wish to move it.

Indications point to floods in Waskau Creek and the river this spring. We have requested the company to take all bridges as put them in the best condition possible to withstand high water.

Many bridges on the main line and St. Louis, particularly, are almost beyond repair, and either or both of these bridges will have to be replaced.

The scale was dismantled and was employed by the Seales Committee of the Agricultural Society, was finished up and sold for $100,000. "We are therefore of the opinion that the defendants cannot reasonably be held responsible for loss to the plaintiff, if any, by the plaintiff's agent, Mr. McNevin, for the verdict of the jury was perverse and contrary to the evidence."—J. H. Hyndman said that point would have to be settled by a higher court. He wished to appeal for the defendant with costs.

PATENT MEDICINE LAW.

Most important and somewhat drastic changes have been made by the Parliament of Canada in respect to proprietary and patent medicines, and which have taken effect on the 1st of January of the present year. The object of the law is to protect the public from the sale of illegal hereafter either to manufacturers or importers for sale proprietary and patent medicines containing opium or its derivatives for internal use.

Patent medicines bulked with soothing syrups are covered by the prohibition that no patent medicine shall be imported under any name or name of sale shall contain any derivative of opium, which, in the opinion of the Advisory Board of the Board, is dangerous to children at that age. The use of cocaine and alcohol is also greatly restricted, and it is forbidden to use false, misleading and exaggerated claims.

SUPP. REVENUE TAX IN ALBERTA CITIES TO BE DOUBLED

Will Be Levied on Mill Rate Basis Throughout Province.

Details of the new methods to be followed in the levying and collection of the supplementary revenue tax are contained in amendments to the supplementary revenue tax act supplied to the house Tuesday night. In the future, the tax will be levied on a mill rate basis throughout the province, instead of on a flat acreage rate in rural districts, as in the past. Also the rate will be equalized throughout the province by a board of equalization, and the rate for cities is doubled from one mill in the past to two mills.

MAKE-UP OF BOARD.

This board, according to the terms of the amendments prepared by Hon. A. MacKay, minister of municipalities, is to consist of not less than three or more than five persons, one of whom shall be chairman, and who shall be paid for their services. The appointments are to be made by the lieutenant-governor in council and the proposal is that two members shall represent the cities, two the rural districts, and one the government in a five-board membership.

The board is required to make its first report to the minister of municipalities not later than January 10, 1921, the report to contain a schedule showing the total equalized assessed value of each and every urban and rural unit in the province. Annual reports shall be furnished of these assessments on or before the same date of each year in the future.

WORDING OF SECTION.

The section relative to the method of making the assessment reads as follows:

"In every urban or rural unit, there shall be levied and collected for the year 1921, and annually thereafter by the assessor a supplementary revenue tax at the rate of two mills on the dollar of the equalized assessed value as fixed by the board, of all rateable lands therein, exclusive of lands held under grazing lease or permit from the government of Canada;

"Provided that in the event of the tax payable on any lot in any subdivision or plan or any fraction of a quarter of section under this section being less than ten cents, the tax to be entered on the roll as payable on each such lot or fraction of a quarter section shall be ten cents;

STRIKING OF RATE

"And provided always that where the total assessment of an urban or rural unit as fixed by the assessing officer differs from the total equalized assessment as fixed by the board, the assessor, secretary-treasurer or other tax collecting officer, as the case may be, shall strike a rate of taxation on the amount of the assessment as fixed by him that shall yield taxes under this act at the rate of two mills on the dollar upon the total equalized assessment as fixed by the board.

"There shall be levied on and collected from every taxable person for the year 1921, and annually thereafter by the assessor a supplementary revenue tax at the rate of one per cent. per acre on all rateable land in any rural unit held by him under grazing lease or permit from the government of Canada."

ANOTHER USE FOR THE PENITENTIARY BUILDINGS

At the meeting of the Edmonton public school board on Thursday night, on the action of trustees Barnes, the chairman and secretary were authorized to communicate with the department of justice at Ottawa, and also with the Edmonton members, with the idea of securing the penitentiary buildings to be used as a technical school by the city.

Maud: No, I cannot marry you. Percy: Oh, well, there are others just as good. Maud: Better—I accepted one of them yesterday.

GUARD AGAINST THE 'FLU

Serious Outbreaks of Influenza all over Canada

GOOD HEALTH IS THE SUREST SAFEGUARD

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" Brings Vigor and Vitality and Thus Protects Against Disease

There can be no doubt that the situation regarding the spread of influenza throughout Canada is one of grave concern. It is quite true that the number of cases does not constitute an epidemic such as caused the suffering and sorrow during the terrible days of 1918. Yet there is no disputing the fact that everyone should be on their guard against the disease.

In Montreal alone, from January 20th to February 21st, three thousand, one hundred and twenty-two cases of influenza and 189 deaths from the disease were reported to the Health Department.

If the outbreak had come at the beginning of the winter instead of the end, we might reasonably feel that the very cold weather would check the spread of the disease. But coming as it has, at the end of the winter, there is grave fear that an epidemic may occur. For spring, with its slush and rain underfoot, its dampness and chill, its constant changing from cold to warm and back again, is a prolific source of colds, flu, pneumonia and pleurisy.

The best protection, in fact, the only safeguard against the 'Flu, is GOOD HEALTH.

Those who are not as well and strong as they should be; those who are underweight; those who are "run-down," through overwork or sickness; should build up at once. What they need is a Blood-purifier, a body-builder, a strength-giver, like "Fruit-a-lives," the wonderful fruit medicine.

"Fruit-a-lives" regulates the kidneys and bowels, causing these organs to eliminate waste regularly and naturally as nature intended. "Fruit-a-lives" keeps the skin active, and insures an abundant supply of pure, rich blood. "Fruit-a-lives" tones up and strengthens the organs of digestion, sharpens the appetite, brings restful sleep and renews the vitality of the nervous system. "Fruit-a-lives" contains everything that an ideal tonic should have; to purify the blood, to build up strength and vigor, and to regulate the eliminating organs, so that the whole system would be in the best possible condition to resist disease.

Now is the time to build up your health and strength, not only as a precaution against the ravages of influenza, but also to protect you against "spring fever" and the inevitable reaction which comes with the appearance of warmer weather. Get a box of "Fruit-a-lives" today and let this fruit medicine keep you well.

"Fruit-a-lives" is sold by all dealers at 50¢ a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, trial size 25¢, or sent postpaid receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

ANOTHER LABOR LEADER IS FOUND DEAD IN CHICAGO

Chicago, March 17.—Chicago's labor war dominant since the murder of Maurice "Boss" Enright, February 3, broke out again Wednesday with the finding of the body of Joe Hurley, labor leader and Enright lieutenant, lying in the street in the south side "bad lands." Hurley had been shot in the back, dying instantly. A trail of blood led from the body to a nearby saloon, noted as a gathering place for labor leaders. Hurley was a pal of "Sonny" Dunn, brother-in-law of Enright, who recently forfeited his bonds in a grand larceny case and disappeared.

The women's golf championship of Great Britain will be held at Newcastle, Ireland, beginning May 10.

The Aftermath of Action

(By Henry Chas. Suter)

A WAR BRIDE

It was at the port of entry into Canada where she landed. The voyage had been intensely interesting, and, though at times uncomfortable, yet as she clung to the deck rail of the ship that had brought her safely overseas, she felt loath to leave it for the boat had grown so familiar. She looked up at the rough cliffs of Quebec with enthusiasm as they rose up sheer and rugged from the blue depths of the river, and then her eyes travelled to the rapidly approaching dock, and she assured herself that this was her husband's homeland, and the eager curious faces watching her were her husband's countrymen. Of course she had her misgivings, because it had been questioned whether she would be welcomed, and vague rumors had been circulated that Canada did not take kindly to soldiers' wives as war brides.

Her husband, it he had returned to Canada some months ahead, and could not get to the docks in time to greet her, and again she had only vaguely understood this, having failed to readily grasp the idea of vast distance such as he had spoken to her about. So she stepped from the gang plank with much foreboding but this was soon dispelled as her attention was attracted by a number of voluntary workers clad in blue and white uniform dotted here and there with green with open arms to welcome war brides. Some of these W.C.T.U. and Y.M.C.A. workers took babies, others relieved passengers of heavy parcels, while all assisted these new arrivals to feel welcome to the shores of Canada. So she soon found herself taken in hand by one of these workers and conversation was opened as though they were old friends and the war bride was eventually conducted to the immigration official. Of course she was very nervous and was asked concerning her supposed husband to be and these officials display endless tact in these matters. Naturally it was a delicate matter to extract from this bashful maiden definite proof that she had a truly bonafide husband to be; but the official was also a returned man and had the happy knack of inspiring confidence almost before she knew it herself so she had tumbled out of her bag a bundle of love letters and was showing to him her coveted treasures to read. Eventually he showed her just where her destination was and together with a pamphlet and chart she began to have a better knowledge of distance. He also imparted to her all information how to get there, and she left this official in a pleasant frame of mind, for the impression she now received was that Canada wished her soldiers' wives to suffer the least possible discomfort and inconvenience and discomfort and inconvenience was not in the W.C.T.U. worker who finds further comfort and interest in the Y.W.C.A. building with all its appendages of assistance with respect to lessons in baggage checking, sending telegrams and train travelling. Before the arrival of each boat the workers in charge of the canteen must spend a day preparing mountains of sandwiches and cake, as well as hot soup, tea, coffee and cocoa. In another corner are to be found luxuries they are called, for which a price must be paid, and here the new comer is initiated into the art of eating delicious ice cream cones, or the explaining to her the mystery of the intricacies of Canadian money. Soon the time arrives for the traveller to resume her journey through the promised land and these workers have enabled her to find such promise with a lighter heart. So the work of welcoming began there at the docks, but there must be a nation-wide interest in these war brides, whom we welcome first for their husband's sake and now for their own sake.

As they continue their journey, what shall you and I do to complete the welcome they first received at Canada's landing ports?

THE TEMPEST.

A tempest in a tea pot has been going on the past week over the refusal of the Commissioner to allow the city hall for the Woodworth meeting. It has been the distinct understanding of the Council for years that the city hall shall not be used for political meetings, on the general ground that dissension was caused in the community no matter which party had it. Now a person may claim the meeting in question was not of a political nature—we contend it was; but it is only a matter of opinion. Everyone must admit it was of a contentious nature. The bitterness and even vindictiveness with which the promoters of the meeting carried on is evidence of what might have happened on a bigger scale in a larger community. The announcement on the bills that the city refused the use of the hall was calculated to arouse a bitter feeling. Ald. Turnbull, when remonstrated with, said that the statement was placed there intentionally to bring out a crowd. No doubt the idea was worked to the utmost. Rev. Joseph Woodworth, of the Indian Industrial School, holding a responsible position under the government, admits in a letter to the Advocate over his own name that he got a telegram from his brother that he would pay them a visit and speak here if they wanted him. Mr. Woodworth handled the matter over to Mr. Galbraith to carry out as he expected to be out of the city most of the week. That is how he came to Red Deer.

The parrot talk of free speech and free press is tiresome and very ridiculous under the circumstances.

DR. CLARK

Now that Dr. Michael Clark has gone over to the cross benches it is rather difficult to tell just where we are at.

Although a Liberal and a Free Trader, he received the wholehearted backing of this paper when he ran as a supporter of the Unionist government.

His link up with the leaders of the farmers' party now that the war is over, may indicate that he will throw his influence with them in the future. If that should be the case, it would appear to us that he is safe in Red Deer constituency, as he is a farmer and this is a rural constituency. One Liberal, who opposes the Union Government, went so far as to Inform us that Dr. Clark would be the next Premier of Canada.

While we would not like to go so far as our friend of the Liberal persuasion, we believe that if he receives the nomination of the farmer party, he will be re-elected easily, as we doubt if either a Conservative or Unionist would oppose him, and he would be elected by a larger majority than ever before over a Liberal candidate, as he would be a great addition to the debating strength of the farmer party throughout the Dominion of Canada.

An investigation made by the British Cotton Growers' Association shows that as a result of experimental farms conducted in Bagdad, Mesopotamia and East Sudan, the yield per acre of cotton was more than double that produced in Egypt, and three times as great as that produced per acre in the Southern States. In brief, the Association believes that in time Great Britain can grow all the cotton she requires in the Sudan, Egypt, and Mesopotamia.

Having a farmer government at Toronto has its compensations, according to the Farmers' Union, of that city, as the Lieutenant-Governor did not wear satin breeches and a coat all dolled up with gold braid at the opening of parliament.

The Toronto Sun, the farmers' organ in Ontario, points out that the Union Government's majority is coming down. It was only 34 at last vote. Well, that is a pretty good majority. The farmers' government is doing business on a much smaller majority, and still, that is a pretty good majority. The impression that it is pretty safe at the present time.

EXAMINER'S REVIEW OF PROVINCIAL MARKETS

Cattle
Good, fat steers and cows are at least half a dollar higher on the Calgary market than they were a week ago; cows have been showing a steady advance and yesterday, with the right kind of steers on hand, the buyers boosted the prices about half a dollar. Choice steers $12.25 to $13.40; good butchers $10.50 to $12. Choice cows $10.50 to $11.55; good butchers, $9 to $10.25. The few calves below that are scarce and it is just as well for nobody wants them. There are no choice heifers offered. Bulls are worth from $8.25 down; choice light veal calves will bring up to $12, but scarce. Stockers and feeders not in brisk demand; feeders worth from $10 down.

Hogs
Constantly increasing demand, for hogs has been in evidence in the Calgary yards during the week and the first sales which were made on Wednesday, at $20.85 and that was advanced to $21 on Thursday's receipts. Receipts all week have been light, sales today at $21.25 to $21.55. Hog prices at Edmonton have shown the firmness of all other markets and all appearances are that they have been advanced until sales this week were quoted at $20.50.

Sheep
Light receipts all provincial yards during the week. Prices unchanged from last week.

Horses
Good demand for heavy horses and few offered. Calgary horse sales during past week rather slow and most of the teams are from $50 to $400. Few teams of choice, heavy good quality sold, one pair making $975. Horses selling higher at country auctions than at city sales.

Produce
Eggs have been fluctuating owing to weather conditions, but indications point to a price from $11.40 to $12 for opening of next week. Butter market firm and dairy receipts light; choice dairy in demand. Creameries are reporting inquiries from outside points and market prospects are good. Potato market very bullish and sellers are asking on commercial stock, from $70 up to $80 for seed potatoes. No movement in poultry and market firm on any consignments.

Hay
Bad weather has caused a more serious situation as regards hay than was reported a week ago. It is hard to set a price on hay, as recent sales have been very high on such stock as could be moved. Green feed is selling higher and stacked stuff will bring from $28 down on cars at shipping point.

Thursday it was announced from Edmonton that free transportation would be granted on hay within the area regardless of the price at which it had been bought. Though it comes very late; better late than never.

Hides
Market conditions still very unfavorable and prices on best hides lower; frozen hides from 13c to 14c; green salted butchers hides 15c to 16c; calf skins 25c to 30c. Poor quality, grubby hides coming on now and outlook not at all favorable for better prices.

SEED GRAIN

A number of farmers have informed me recently that germination tests of their oats (i.e. 1919 crop) have proved it unsuitable for seed, and that they are obtaining seed elsewhere of satisfactory quality.

This is a very serious matter, for to every farmer who tests his seed, there are probably four or five or more who take no precautions whatsoever in the matter of testing. Generally speaking, the seed sown last spring was excellent, due to the ideal weather conditions of the 1918 harvest. But harvesting conditions last fall could scarcely have been worse, frost, rain and snow all occurring as unfavorable factors to the grain coming through as first class seed.

In the interests of our community as a whole, and the individual farmers themselves, it is to be hoped that no grain will be used as seed this spring that has not been tested. Anyone who will take the trouble can make a test with some soil in a tin or box; or samples could be rushed through to the Dominion Seed Branch, Calgary, for a seven day test. I have some two or three dozen seed testers which I used two years ago, and I will gladly loan these, so far as they will go, to farmers on request.

F. C. WHITEHOUSE

$45,000,000 THEFTS FROM CARS SHOWN.

Booby Double That in Any Pre-War Year.

Wholesale looting of merchandise in transit on the railroads of the United States caused a loss of approximately $45,000,000 in 1919, according to United States Railroad Administration statistics made public recently.

This is estimated to be more than double the losses sustained in any pre-war year, but it is pointed out that the increased cost of the commodities stolen, roughly estimated to average 85 per cent, must be taken into consideration when comparing the losses in the days of low prices with losses now. Nevertheless there has been a steadily increasing number of packages stolen, and the organization combating the thieves have met an increased ingenuity in diverting goods from their owners.

A technique of robbery has been developed so highly that the methods of "master thieves" are similar in the United States, England, France, Italy and Argentina, according to a recent report of the United States Chamber of Commerce in Argentina. Detectives, however, are inclined to discredit that organization's report, as it is a "widely distributed national organization" is at work stealing merchandise.

Substitution is the usual method used by the thieves. Sometimes boxes supposed to contain velvet are found at the destination to be filled with cotton or other cheaper grades of cloth, but as a rule, waste paper is found. These are referred to as "concealed losses" by railway men, and are especially difficult to trace, as the shippers, letters and arrivals apparently in good condition, and it is almost impossible to discover at what point the theft occurred.

The silk industry has been one of the most severely hit in the last year, and so great has the risk become that the Railroad Administration has been considering excluding silk from the privilege of freight transportation by rail. The Merchants' Association of New York, through its traffic bureau, has protested against such an exclusion, advocating some less radical measure to minimize or prevent the theft of silk in transit.

CRAWFORD SEES CRITICAL TIMES FOR THE PROVINCE

South Edmonton Member Finds Fault With Mitchell's Budget Speech.

Edmonton, March 18.—Howard Crawford (opposition), South Edmonton, chief financial critic of the government, flung at once into a rapid review of provincial Treasurer Mitchell's budget speech at the night session of the house Thursday. Mr. Crawford found particular fault with the treasurer for not giving more details about the state of the telephone department, for failing to make any mention of the critical railway situation which confronts the province, and for omitting from the printed estimates a statement of the assets and liabilities of the province.

In connection with the latter criticism he called attention to a printed circular which the treasurer had caused to be sent out eulogizing Alberta's assets, and including in them the schedule lands of the federal government from which the province derives interest only, and which, he said, could not be put in a properly prepared financial statement as assets.

FACING SERIOUS TIMES

Contrary to Mr. Mitchell's views of the dawn of an era of great prosperity he thought the province was facing serious times. At the rate Alberta was piling up debts it would soon take all the income from the sale of lands to pay the interest on its debentures. He especially noted the outstanding arrears of the province of $3,468,120, which showed that many people were in difficult straits. Crawford also pointed out the increase of the bonded debt in one year of $2,988,427, with a total direct debt of $25,000,000 in 1923, and $47,000,000 in 1924, with a sinking fund to date of only $980,623. He also pointed out the increase of the bonded debt in one year of $2,988,427, with a total direct debt of $25,000,000 in 1923, and $47,000,000 in 1924, with a sinking fund to date of only $980,623. He also pointed out the increase of the bonded debt in one year of $2,988,427, with a total direct debt of $25,000,000 in 1923, and $47,000,000 in 1924, with a sinking fund to date of only $980,623.

Mr. Crawford severely criticized the treasurer for failing to give any details of what plans the government was making to handle the huge sum of debentures maturing in 1922, 1923, and 1924, there being $6,512,706 for 1922, $10,000,000 for 1923, and $47,000,000 in 1924, with a sinking fund to date of only $980,623. He also pointed out the increase of the bonded debt in one year of $2,988,427, with a total direct debt of $25,000,000 in 1923, and $47,000,000 in 1924, with a sinking fund to date of only $980,623.

OUT OF ALL PROPORTION

Mr. Crawford ridiculed what he called the small cash surplus shown for the year 1919, and said that as a matter of fact it could be wiped out by juggling of figures in almost any department of the government, resulting in a list of increased revenues of the various departments for 1919 to de-construct this. The general administrative expenses of Saskatchewan were $57,787, while in Alberta they were $7,198, $11,016, in 1919, $14,637, and estimated for 1920, $22,834.00.

The opposition critic went into considerable detail in an attack on the expense of the agricultural department, saying it was entirely unwarranted by results. He cited the work of the Ontario agricultural department in distributing seeds and eggs to the pupils in the rural schools, conducting rural school fairs and home gardens, and said that it was achieving much better results for the money than the expensive agricultural schools of Alberta, which were of benefit to only a few pupils resulting in the immediate neighborhood.

CRITICIZES TELEPHONE REPORT

Mr. Crawford also paid considerable attention to the telephone report prepared by Engineer Wray. He criticized the report for stating the reproduction figure of the plants at $12,986,263 to show that they were worth more than they cost when built.

"We are not 'anxious,'" said Mr. Crawford, "to know what the telephone system would cost if built at the present high prices of material and abnormal cost of labor, but we want to know what it should have cost when it was built. The report establishes, however, an argument that the opposition has been urging year after year, that the telephone system should have been paid by depreciation fund. Hon. A. L. Sifton kept telling us year after year that the system was being kept up by maintenance, but anyone who followed the sums being expended for maintenance knew that it was impossible."

HAD DEPRECIATED.

The engineer's report shows that on January 1, 1918, the telephone system was $4.5 per cent. efficient; that is, it had depreciated during its life that much from the 100 per cent. standard. As he put its reproduction value on that date at $12,986,263, allowing for his figure of depreciation would make its actual value $10,963,539.

In other words, it would cost $2,022,724 to bring it up to standard today, and this is what should have been set aside for depreciation. But we find for the first time this year an item of $250,000 set aside for depreciation, and that is all there is on hand to meet the $2,022,724.

Mr. Crawford also severely criticized the expenditures of the Alberta Labor bureau, especially the traveling expenses of one of its officials who spent $1,764 for this purpose during the year. The bureau has cost $39,892 in one year, and the estimate for 1920 to keep it going was $59,940. He did not know what work it was doing, but it hardly would be doing work to justify that expenditure.

The speaker said he would go more fully into details in criticizing the estimates from item to item, as they were brought for passage in the house.

NEWS WEEKLY SERMON

By REV. GEO. D. ARMSTRONG

All Scripture given by inspiration of God, is profitable also for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness, that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished with all good works.—2 Tim. 3:16.

The design and use of the sacred writings is nowhere set forth more clearly than in the quotation from the letter of Paul to Timothy. It is evident from the context that Paul had been in the Jewish people in which Timothy had been educated from childhood. In these writings the religious progress of mankind had been recorded; in them the accumulated wisdom of the prophets and sages had been gathered together, in them the spiritual experience, the struggles and triumphs of holy men of old had been set forth. They were a revelation of God, in man and to man, and to all ages have been of value to those who have diligently sought to understand their meaning. They grew out of the religious life of the people. The revelation of God to men is, primarily, an experience, and we should bear in mind that religious truth is not a revelation of God as a man's personal life and experience is greater than the biography of it. A man's religion is first sustained by the authoritative utterances of church council or on the authority of an "infallible" church was set aside, and those who were in revolt against the decrees of the church acknowledged allegiance to the authority of an "infallible" book. Today the faith of mankind is being built upon a deeper and stronger foundation, not on laws written on tables of stone but on the laws of God which are indelibly written in the constitution of the universe and in the nature of mankind. The standard for authority is the word of God, spoken to the human soul by the Holy Spirit as these laws of God which are indelibly written in the constitution of the universe and in the nature of mankind. The standard for authority is the word of God, spoken to the human soul by the Holy Spirit as these laws of God which are indelibly written in the constitution of the universe and in the nature of mankind.

"Our task is to 'prove all things'—to put our theories to the test of reason and to let them stand or fall on 'bold facts which are good.' We shall not lose our faith in the Bible when by painstaking study of its teaching, a reverent obedience to principles of truth, we relate it to the life, in which it originated, and we find it to be a living word when our eyes are open to see that the Bible is a part of a greater revelation, and that the words which we read are the words of God, inspired by the spirit of God. It is interesting to note that those who hold tenaciously to the literal interpretation of Scripture, cite authorities the opinions of learned Christian writers and rightly do so. The test of inspiration of any literature is that it conveys a real message and that it has permanent and universal value. If any writing is 'profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for instruction in righteousness,' it may justly be regarded as 'inspired' no matter by whose hand it was written, in whatever age it has been produced."

The test of its value is found in the relation of the Bible to human character and the life of mankind. Does the study of the Bible make for reverence, intelligence, tolerance, sympathy, courage, purity, holiness, in the lives of its students? Does it tend to build up moral character? Does it make men better citizens, better neighbors, truer friends? Does it make men of God, proficient and equip them for good work of every kind? The value of the Bible will not be called in question when its principles are dominant in the lives of those who have been made truthful, honest, fearless, unflinching, reverent and loving—the sons of God above reproach, through a genuine appreciation of its teaching. We cannot be good Christians without being at the same time good citizens. Our worship of God is shown by our service to mankind.

FRANCE AFTER THE RHINE VALLEY

The Manchester Guardian says that, a year ago, when a most desperate demand for the surrender of German war criminals for trial by an Allied court, Mr. Clemenceau shrugged his shoulders, while the American representatives frowned and raised objections on various points of form and fact. Since then, the Guardian says, Lloyd George has been inclined to be more vigorous. The explanation given is that France is making little or no progress in the task of the Rhine. "One of the most menacing features in the sufficiently menacing position in Europe is," says the Manchester Guardian, "the steady pressure of French policy to disrupt the German State at the Rhine. Fach, as is well known, was for association pure and simple. For the proper military frontier of France he pointed to the blue stripe of the map of the Rhine. That folly was not permitted, but the treaty provided for the occupation by the Allied command of the many west of the Rhine for fifteen years as security for the fulfillment of the treaty. Now M. Millerand, M. Clemenceau's successor in the Presidency, comes forward with an extraordinary claim for the indefinite extension of that period on the ground of Germany's infraction of the treaty through her refusal to surrender the persons accused of war crimes."

A correspondent of an English journal, writing on the same question, says that General Gerd, commanding the French occupying force in the Palatinat, issued in March of this year a private receipt ordering an energetic propaganda calculated to convince the inhabitants of the province—the very heart of medieval France—that their material and moral interests depended upon union with France. Local pressure, this correspondent says, is being used by the French military authorities to attain the end desired. Under the original arrangement, while the French were in military command of the province, the civil administration was in German hands. But, this correspondent says, General Gerd has have reasserted the attempt to secure the permanent annexation of the French territory to France, and has been displaced by French appointees.

PRESIDENT BEATTY ON Y. M. C. A. WORK.

In a foreword to an attractive little pamphlet issued by the Railway Y.M.C.A. of Canada, E. W. Beatty, President of the C.P.R., has contributed to the work of this association. "The high praise of the Y.M.C.A.," says Mr. Beatty, "of the Y.M.C.A. of men and boys has come to be generally and properly recognized as a particularly on account of its efforts to do good in the world. It is the soldiers during the recent world war."

"Among the various spheres of the Association's activities, not the least valuable is the work of the Railway Branches—which minister to the intellectual, social, moral and physical needs of railway men and their families, irrespective of race or creed."

"The inception of this work on the Canadian Pacific Railway dates back to 1906 when the building at Revelstoke, B.C., was erected and the well-satisfied were the Company's officers with the experience that there that 3 additional branch stations have since been established. These provide home surroundings and comfort for men in train service when away from home and to many employees located at outlying points they afford the only home facilities that are available to them."

It is not only that good meals and clean beds and baths are provided, but the educational advantages, the recreational facilities and the opportunities for social intercourse amidst wholesome surroundings must necessarily contribute to the well-being of the men and benefit the families in which they live, and the Company with which they are employed."

The Railway Y.M.C.A. provided 140,000 beds to railway men and served 328,000 meals in 1919. Its buildings are valued at $280,000.

Fixing Up A Bit

There's no denying the fact that some things around your place are in pretty tough shape, and need fixing up a bit. On the principle "better late than never," what's the matter with RIGHT NOW being a good time to fix those home-burnt pipes, leaky faucets, and other things that are in the way?

To put it off any longer but adds to the cost. You can put things in shape far cheaper now than you can a month from now, or at any future time.

Just think the matter over, and if you decide to "fix up a bit," let us give you our lowest prices on the material before you buy elsewhere.

IMPERIAL BANK VS. WILKINSON

The following intricate case was tried at the Supreme Court sittings last week:

Imperial Bank v. Wilkinson. This was an action brought by the Imperial Bank of Canada against O. B. Wilkinson, Sylvan Lake, to recover some $2,350, balance due on check of H. F. Kenny for $4,000, and endorsed by Wilkinson. Wilkinson was buying grain for Kenny at Sylvan Lake on commission, and had had several transactions through the Sylvan Lake branch of the Imperial Bank. Mr. Horton, being sub-agent and accountant, the branch being subsidiary to Red Deer. On March 28 Wilkinson passed a draft for $4,000 on Kenny through the bank and that amount was placed to his credit. Mr. Wilkinson, manager at Red Deer, saw Mr. Kenny on Saturday afternoon and Mr. Kenny agreed to arrange about the draft on Monday. On Monday Kenny handed in a $4,000 check to the Imperial Bank of Red Deer which was taken out to Sylvan Lake for Wilkinson's endorsement, with the message according to the bank officers, that Kenny said it would be paid according to Wilkinson's story, the message was an assurance from the bank that the check would be paid. Wilkinson said further that Horton had said the next day, manager to notify him by noon Saturday if the draft sent in Friday was not all right. He received no answer from Red Deer and advanced him money to buy grain. The check was presented at the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Red Deer, on Tuesday by the Imperial and the Commerce asked them to present it again the next day. The next day payment was refused, and on Thursday the note was protested, Wilkinson as endorser being notified. Wilkinson, before the Imperial Bank refused to honor two of his checks of $157 and $108, had checked $2,350 of his $4,000 credit. He took action against the Bank for damages in dishonoring his checks, and an arrangement was made that the bank should assist Wilkinson to pay the two dishonored checks, and that Wilkinson should sign over the $450 to his credit to the Bank. Wilkinson was then to withdraw his action for damages, and he agreed to do so. The bank cleared up the $4,000 check matter as well.

Relying on the representation that the check would be paid, Wilkinson allowed the cars of grain for which he paid out the money to be billed out by Kenny.

Mr. A. H. Clarke, K.C., and Mr. Quinn appeared for the defendant. Mr. Clarke contended that no consideration had been given Wilkinson for the check. The credit of $4,000 had been placed to Wilkinson's account on March 28 before the check was drawn. Mr. Wilkinson's endorsement was procured by assurances to him from the bank officers that the check would be paid when presented in Red Deer. Mr. Clarke contended that the draft of March 28 had been treated by the bank as having been paid, presumably by the check. They trusted to Kenny's promise to pay, and advanced Wilkinson money with the knowledge that Wilkinson was buying for Kenny, and in the belief that Kenny would pay the draft or check. Wilkinson and Kenny did not see each other; the bank served both parties. Then, the bank provided that notice of dishonor of a check must be sent to the endorser within 24 hours after payment was refused on the check. This had not been done. The check was presented at the Bank of Commerce, Red Deer, on Tuesday without result; again on Wednesday when payment was refused. The protest notice was sent out on Thursday, 48 hours after the check was first presented; if the money was not got on Tuesday, the endorser should have been notified on Wednesday. Then a settlement had been arranged between Wilkinson and the Bank. Was it likely that Wilkinson would have given up the $450 and withdrawn his suit for damages unless he felt assured that he was there by settling up all claims of the Bank against him? The remedy of the Bank was against Kenny who gave the check and not the grain, not against Wilkinson, who had endorsed the note on the representation of the Bank officials that it would be paid.

Mr. Frank Ford, K.C., Edmonton, and Mr. Payne, appeared for the Bank. Mr. Ford took the position that the bank was simply an intermediary between Kenny and Wilkinson, and that it simply transmitted to Wilkinson Kenny's assurances that the money would be forthcoming; it could not assure Wilkinson on its own account that the draft would be paid, as Kenny's account was at the Bank of Commerce. Wilkinson had received consideration in being permitted to withdraw money; Horton and Wilkinson were simply "carrying on" under the credit until Kenny came through. The bank never accepted the check as payment for the draft. The check was not dishonored on the Tuesday by the Bank of Commerce; it carries the notice "please present to-morrow"; that was not a refusal to pay, nor was it dishonoring the check. Horton had no authority to lend such an amount of money as $4,000, nor had either Horton or Wilkinson any authority to make settlement with Wilkinson; the matter was entirely out of their hands by that time. Both Mr. Ford and Mr. Clarke quoted authorities.

The judge held that the placing of the entry of $4,000 to Mr. Wilkinson's credit on March 28 did not necessarily give Wilkinson possession of the money, if the condition on which the credit was given was not fulfilled. That seemed to him the crux of the defendant's case, and he must rule against him on that main point. He accordingly gave the Bank judgment for the amount claimed with costs.

PREMIER ANNOUNCES NO FURTHER CHANGE IN THE LIQUOR ACT

Will Wait for Opinion of People to Be Expressed in Plebiscite on Importation of Liquor.

Edmonton, March 18.—As was anticipated in The Alberta several days ago, the provincial government does not intend to make any changes in the liquor act or in prohibition further than has already been announced until the referendum upon interprovincial trade.

The announcement was made in the house by the premier tonight. In his statement the premier said:

"I do not think there can be any doubt that when the Dominion parliament last session passed the act providing for prohibiting the importation of liquor into a province upon an affirmative vote of the electors of the province, it was intended that the people of a province should decide upon that plebiscite, whether or not they wished the laws with respect to the sale and use of liquor to be tightened and made more restrictive or otherwise."

"On the motion of the government the resolution necessary under the Dominion act to have this vote taken, and I have no doubt that the citizens wishing further restrictions will vote 'yes' and those opposed 'no' upon this question. Our present liquor act was placed upon the statute books as the result of a preponderant vote of the people, and this is the only mandate the government has at present. It is, therefore, not the intention of the government to amend this act until after the plebiscite is taken.

WANT A MANDATE
When the electors have expressed their opinions at the coming plebiscite, the government will consider ways and means for putting into effect in the most practicable way the wishes of the people with regard to the sale and use of liquor.

"The government, therefore, at this session proposed to do two things. Introduce the resolution providing for the plebiscite, and introduce legislation to close, insofar as it was within the power of the province to do so, the wholesale liquor depots which are now importing liquor into this province ostensibly for the purpose of exporting liquor into other provinces. These two things have already been done."

Captain Pearson asked if the government had no intention of limiting the prescriptions or the size of the orders. The government should go ahead instead of following behind.

The premier suggested that he read the statement, and then he might see what the government proposed to do.

"But nothing is to be done until after the vote is taken," said Captain Pearson.

The speaker reminded Captain Pearson that he was out of order, and the discussion closed.

JOHN WALKER HAS GAINED 25 POUNDS

Had To Give Up His Business, But Is Back on Job Every Day Now.

"My five years of troubles had pulled me down until I weighed only one hundred-fifty pounds at the time I began taking Tanale, but now I tip the scales at exactly one hundred-thirty-eight," said John Walker, a well-known the layer residing at 428 Alexander Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"I had suffered so long that I had no color in my skin and hardly had strength enough to move about," continued Mr. Walker. "I had to give up my regular line of work and take up a different kind of business, and I was in such a weakened condition that I almost had to give it up also. It was all I could do to put in one or two days a week and I had to lay off the rest of the time. At last I was compelled to go to the hospital, and I stayed there seven and a half weeks, but came home in no better condition than I was before. I had such a poor appetite that I hardly cared whether I went to the table or not, and my digestion was so bad that I had terrible pains across my back and around my heart. It seemed that no matter what time I went to bed I could never close my eyes until after three o'clock in the morning, and when I got up I felt worse than when I went to bed the night before. I was troubled almost constantly with an awful pain across my back, and when I stooped over it felt like my back was breaking in two."

"I was advised by a friend to take Tanale, and as I had read a great deal about it I decided to give it a trial. I have taken six bottles and it has made such a different man out of me that all my friends are remarking about how well and strong I am looking. I never once dreamed that anything could build me up and strengthen me like Tanale did. I have a splendid appetite and digest what I eat without the least trouble, and the pains in my chest and around my heart have all disappeared. The pains in my back are just about gone. I sleep fine at night and my color has come back. As I said, I have gained twenty-three pounds in weight and have come back to my regular work of life-saving. My gain has been in every way, and I am in better general health than I have been in years."

Tanale is sold in Red Deer by Gatz-Cornett Drug & Book Co., and by the leading druggist in every town.

BIG AREAS OF LAND OPENED TO RETURNED MEN

75,000 Acres of Hudson's Bay Reserve Lands Available in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Ottawa, March 17.—Canadian farmers will soon be able to settle in a large area of western reserve land which has been thrown open by the crown, according to an announcement by the soldier settlement board. Action has been taken to dispose of 75,000 acres of Hudson's Bay reserve lands, situated in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta, and 15,000 acres of Dookhobor reserve lands near Kamusack, Saskatchewan.

A portion of the land will be sold April 15th and the proceeds given to a reserve fund to offset settlement losses and to aid returned men physically disabled whose condition and circumstances necessitated their being settled on land. The remainder of the area will be thrown open about April 20th for soldier grant entry. Assistance in the form of farm loans for stock and equipment will be given to those men whose knowledge of farming will enable them to proceed with the development and operation of their lands.

Local officers of the Soldiers' Settlement Board could not confirm the dates and data as furnished in the above report, neither had information reached local officials as to how the proposals would benefit men of the Edmonton district.

It is presumed the land referred to constitutes approximately 400,000 acres of land given to the Hudson's Bay company over and above the amount stipulated in the Dominion government charter.

At the time land was acquired by the Hudson's Bay Company an over-selection was made to the extent of the acreage before stated. A great deal of this is located in the Edmonton district, north and east of Battleford and also in Kamusack, Sask., neighborhood.

During 1919 officials of the Soldiers' Settlement Board made a survey of this over-selected land, with the result that it has since been given back to the government and will now be made available for soldier settlement.

JUDGE NOEL PASSES AWAY

News of the death, in Montreal, on Tuesday, of Joseph Camille Noel, judge of the district court of Edmonton, was received in the city Wednesday morning, and among court officials a great sorrow and a great host of friends throughout the city and province, where the judge was known, there are and will be expressions of deep regret.

Mr. Noel passed away amongst his friends in a hospital, on March 16th, in the city of Montreal, where he had been taken a few weeks ago for treatment in one of the hospitals, after an illness of several months.

Leaving Edmonton last November, after having contracted a severe cold on one of his professional trips to the north country, the judge thought to find renewed health in the sunny south, but on his way was taken seriously ill in Winnipeg, and removed to St. Francis hospital, where he remained until two weeks ago, when Dr. R. A. Blais, from this city, had him removed to Montreal, accompanying him there. He never seemed to regain strength, in spite of the best medical attention, and the disease of which he was seized, ended fatally on Tuesday.

RELAPSING INTO BARBARISM

The condition of Central Europe today is worse than it was even in the last stages of the war.

Sir William Goode, British Director of Relief, says that in Serbia there are cases on official record of those whose only food a year ago was the roots of plants and the leaves and stems of maize; sacks in some cases were given to them in lieu of clothes. Fifty per cent. of the manhood of this people died in the war, and there are 500,000 fatherless children, of whom 150,000 are still in urgent need of care and education. In the report on Jugoslavia it is estimated that 35 per cent. are suffering from clearly recognizable tuberculosis, while the total still infected, including incipient cases, amounts to about 75 or 80 per cent.

Speaking of conditions in Austria, Goode says: "For the first time in my life I have found a whole nation, or what was left of it, in utter, hopeless despair. Inability to obtain ration, in itself insufficient to support human life, and the misery of hundreds and thousands who, in an early winter's snow, shivered without heat or the hope of getting it, were bad enough, but it was nothing compared with the apathy, the helplessness and the loss of hope that pervaded every class, from the highest to the lowest."

Concise and Eastern Europe are, the Manchester Guardian says, relapsing into conditions of barbarism. Pestilence, the inevitable sequel of war, is raging around the world. The Russian refugees in the Baltic States are suffering from typhus, influenza and dysentery. Thousands have died of typhus in the Ukraine and Poland. According to the official Soviet figures there were 124,000 cases of typhus in Soviet Russia in the six months ending March, 1919; since then it has increased. In Eastern Galicia—there are reported more than 100,000 cases of spotted fever with 10,000 deaths.

As one means of relieving the distress the City of Bradford, England, is preparing to adopt 1,000 children from Central Europe, while Manchester is expected to take 3,000.

The dear old thing, with her usual stock of questions, was visiting the Zoo.

"Keeper," she said, tapping him with her umbrella, "what do you consider to be the most remarkable animal in these wonderful gardens?"

"Well, man," replied the keeper thoughtfully, "after careful consideration, as you might say, I should say that there laughing hyena gets the prize."

"Indeed, my good man! And what makes you think that?"

"Well, he only has a sleep once a week, a meal once a month, and a drink once a year," said the keeper moving on. "So what he has to laugh about being."

SUMMARY OF SITUATION IN GERMANY

The Kapp administration at Berlin, realizing the futility of attempting to hold the reins of power, has decided to give up its short lived dictatorship. At 1 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, Chancellor Kapp decided to resign, according to official dispatches from the German capital. Previous to this announcement, forces of extreme radicalism asserted themselves in various German centres. There were increasing Spartan disorders and growing talk among the radicals of the possibility of utilizing the present disturbed conditions to establish Soviet rule.

The list of killed reported from numerous German towns and cities in clashes between demonstrators and troops mounted into the hundreds. There has been no direct confirmation of last night's reports of 490 killed in a bombardment of Kiel by a warship, but there are apparently confirmed reports of one hundred killed and three hundred wounded at Dresden, probably more than one hundred killed in Berlin suburbs, and the killing of from half a dozen to a score of persons in twenty-four or more German centres where clashes occurred.

ALLIED TROOPS NOW OCCUPYING CONSTANTINOPLE

Constantinople, March 17.—Allied troops have occupied Constantinople and the great guns of the British dreadnaught Benbow and other giant allied warships, moored to quays or anchored in the Golden Horn, command both sides of the Bosphorus. Every ship is cleared for action. The actual arrival of allied forces caused little alarm nor were there any signs of panic except in Stambul. Shopkeepers closed their places when they heard the allies were coming, but the troops inspired confidence and the stores were soon reopened.

SABOTAGE IN CALIFORNIA HAS COST $50,000,000.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 16.—Damage to California from incendiary fires and other forms of sabotage attributed to radicals and advocates of "direct action" was estimated at $50,000,000 by S. J. Shannon, deputy United States marshal at Fresno, testifying here today at the trial of Nicholas Steinkamp, alleged I.W.O. Mr. Shannon declared that incendiary fires in Fresno had caused a damage of $1,250,000. Steinkamp is the first of fourteen alleged I.W.O. to be placed on trial here on charges of criminal syndicalism.

It must have been some idea referred to in this item in the Princeton Republic: Miss Chew, the bride's sister, was maul of honor and was gowned in a beautiful hat.

S. Lindell, writing from Eau Claire, Wis., says he stopped off one month in North Dakota and found it very cold and blustery with much snow. He also stopped off several places in Minnesota and found winter conditions very little better there. He said Duluth was the most interesting place he had visited, with its aerial bridge and incline railway. He was meeting many relations he had not seen for twenty years. The high cost of living, he says, is no better there than in good old Alberta.

Pay Your Taxes THIS MONTH

10 PER CENT.

Is a pretty fair slice off one's taxes. And that is what the city of Red Deer is offering the ratepayers on city taxes paid on or before March 31st, 1920.

The City of Red Deer has left his own business in order to serve the citizens by endeavoring to make arrangements at Toronto with the head office of the bank to care for outstanding liabilities. The citizens can support his hand in no better way than paying their current taxes this month.

The repayment of taxes this month means that the City rebates the citizens the money that it would have to pay the Bank in interest.

If you cannot pay all, pay part.

It's a big saving. It will pay you to pay.

HOGS

The Local Board of Health has decided not to permit the keeping of hogs within the city limits this year.

MILK

All persons selling milk within the City limits must have a City license. Applications for permit must be given to Chief of Health, Anderson, together with the license fee of $2.00, after which the cows and premises will be inspected before the license will be granted.

A. T. STEPHENSON, Secretary-Treasurer.
